A real independent was still operating then (WTTF). It's remarkable how many network shows have the same name. In this listing, CBS had a show called 'The Simple Life'. This aired a few years before the more famous show with the same name that starred Paris Hilton and Nicole Richie on Fox. George Clooney was in two different ER's. The first, titled E/R was a mid-1980s comedy series with a short run. The other is so well known it needs no description here.

Norton and Holmes. On OTA. Remarkable that such significant events once were available without shelling out a small fortune to watch!

Even Muhammad Ali had some of his title fights on OTA TV. His bigger matches were shown in theaters on closed-circuit TV and televised OTA later. Holmes was nowhere near the draw Ali was, not sure he ever had a closed-circuit fight.

Hungarian, Yugoslavian TV or even Soviet TV might be a more popular feature in communist Romania.

When did Romania begin broadcasts in color?

I believe they were all B&W as late as 1980.

TV1 started to broadcast programmes in colour in 1983, but they kept broadcasting many shows in B&W until 1990.

TV2 didn't start colour broadcasts until 1990.

Correct me if I'm wrong, but wasn't TV2 off the air from 1985-89 due the austerity measures put in place?

I think TV2 was off completely and TV1 only ran 2-3 hours of programming per night. I'm not sure what the radio situation was like, but I'd imagine something similar to TV hours.

Exactly. On the radio, regional stations were shut down and programming on the 3 national networks were reduced. Radios 1 and 2 broadcast between 6am and midnight, while Radio 2 was on around 14 or 15 hours a day.

In the southern part of Romania, most people can watch at that time Bulgarian Television, in south-western and western regions you can receive Yugoslav TV signal, in Moldavia you receive Soviet TV (on Moldovan frequencies), and around border with Hungary the Hungarian Television .

Only in Transylvania in that period the unique broadcaster which can you receive was TVR. Before the Revolution, in some cities located in Alba and Hunedoara counties were started local cable networks (illegal) or satellite dishes on the balconies (especially the nomenklatura workers and Secret Services officers can buy these dishes) .

Very interesting! It's funny seeing TV series from my country (Argentina) being shown in Romania.

Of course !

In that period (last 90s-middle 00s) many Romanian women gave to her newborns Hispanic surnames (Cassandra, Esmeralda, Manuel or Rebecca) and most of Romanian watchers of telenovelas decided to emigrate to Spain (today in Spain live around 1,5 million Romanians) with the advantage of lifting of Schengen-visas .

Amazing, who would know? It reminds me of a brief fad in some countries like mine where parents gave their babies Turkish names because of the popularity of Turkish soaps.

11:00 sign-off

This was back when CBS carried the NFC games and NBC the AFC games.

From what i remember, NBC switched to the Chargers-Chiefs game after the Steelers-Bills game. So Secret Service might have aired in it's entirety after the Chargers-Chiefs game. So the late night times might be inaccurate.

While the golf was listed for 4:30 in most markets, in my area we had the Washington at Seattle game at 4:00(Greenville/Spartanburg/Asheville market). Some west coast markets got Arizona at Los Angeles at that time too.

Why was there a college game (Marshall vs. App State) on Sunday?!? Was it a replay?

replay. Game was played Nov 7th (Marshall lost 37-34)

The only other switched Fox affiliate I know of that carried the Fox Kids line following the 1994-96 switch was WALA/channel 10 in Mobile AL. All the other new Fox affiliates deferred to another station in their markets.

KTVI was airing Fox Kids at 1pm? Of course the kids were well into summer vacation at that point, but was KTVI doing that DURING the school year as well? Seemed like a stupid move if so.

Guessing KPLR went into infomercials at 1AM, or were they signing off? Strange that LAPD aired on a Christian station in St. Louis.

The paper didn't list infomercials, so I don't know if that station signed off during the night. Actually, I put "paid programming" where a spot was missing.

I checked some KTVI listings from November 1998 and the station had removed the Fox Kids cartoons from its schedule.

Wikipedia says KNLC has often aired secular syndicated series, more recent examples of which include Celebrity Page, Judge Hatchett, Forensic Files and Leverage.

I know KCBD in Lubbock, Texas, delayed Conan by an hour in favor of Rush Limbaugh at 11:35 and Real Stories of the Highway Patrol at 12:05.

This is true; the Post-Dispatch weekly TV book at the time did not list infomercials. However, glancing at the TV grid from the 7/13/98 paper itself, I can confirm what KPLR did show that overnight:

2:00 Paid programming

2:30 Paid programming

3:00 Paid programming

3:30 Nightman

4:30 WKRP in Cincinnati

BTW, why no Port Charles on KDNL?

KDNL cancelled Port Charles in February of 1998, citing low ratings, and replaced it initially with Doogie Howser reruns at 11:30 am. The Post-Dispatch listed Port Charles as having a 1.5 rating (about 16,500 St. Louis households) and a 4 share. Not great, but apparently over four times the ratings KDNL had received with the previous 11:30 soap, The City.

BTW, why no Port Charles on KDNL?

Thanks for pointing that out. I didn't notice it was missing at 11:30am. I wouldn't think they would have been bothered by low ratings (since the station overall is low rated) and carried all ABC shows considering that is all they are to the St. Louis market is a source for ABC programs.

Wasn't it KMBC in Kansas City that aired sitcoms from 10:35-12:05 and Nightline aired at 12:05?

KNLC had a pretty eclectic mix of programming at this time.

Not only is/was KDNL a weak ABC affiliate, all the ABC affiliates in markets surrounding St. Louis are/were historically weak or nonexistent

Indeed, KMBC didn't run Kimmel and Nightline in pattern until 2015.

Totally incomplete! Where are the French language TV stations?

What's the point of showing the listings for a French-speaking city but without the French programmes?

Maybe the source of the listings (the Gazette) didn't print program listings for the French channels. After all, its readership was the English-speaking minority in Montreal, and they weren't watching French TV. Aren't most of the schedules posted here lifted from Google's abandoned newspaper archive project? You can't copy what isn't there!

Well, the Gazette did print program listings for the French channels, but I didn't include them because I don't usually speak French, and the source I got those from was Newspapers.com

6:00 Gilligan's Island

6:30 Rifleman

Apparently what they aired from 8:00-9:30 was omitted.

The listing resumes at 9:30.

9:30 Felony Squad

10:00 Bold Ones

11:00 Night Gallery

11:30 Movie "High Sierra"

1:00 Bullwinkle

1:30 Movie "Never Wave At A WAC"

Match Game panelists that day (on 9, 11 and 27) were Steve Allen, Kay Ballard, Charles Nelson Reilly, Fannie Flagg, Richard Dawson and Brett Somers Klugman.

Ah, yes. As I recall, they were using studio 31 that week instead of their usual 33.

Another mistake...my apologies. WDRB and WXIX aired Merv Griffin at 8-9:30.

Witherspoon cracked the WBA's top 10 with a win over Renaldo Snipes. Also: coverage of the Falmouth Road Race, a 7.1-mile event along the MA coast.

And they're all positively dazzled by their new granny; after all, she can magically dispense drinks from her finger and instantly conjure up their favorite dishes at mealtime. But, more important, they all find her warmth spiritually uplifting-except 8-year-old Agatha (Tara Kennedy), who blurts out: 'You can get them to love you, but I never will. You're just a machine.' Jeffrey Kindly collaborated with Bradbury on the script; the program first aired on 'Peacock Showcase.' Fantoccini: Paul Benedict. Tom: Robert Macnaughton.

OK, let's see about those 'SF' listings.

6 AM-9:30: Everything aired on KBHK 44.

10 AM: I think this was a KTVU 2 (Oakland) show; KBHK aired 'Little Rascals' at that time, and that was already airing on Portland's ch. 2

The Blondie movie at 10:30 was KBHK

The movies airing between 12 and 6 could have been on either KBHK or KTVU, but I'm leaning toward KTVU; I think KBHK was running 'Battlestar Galactica' or the 1978 'Spider-Man' show in movie format on late Sunday afternoons at that point.

'Maverick' at 6 came from KBHK, as did 'Wonder Woman' at 7.

8 o'clock movie: Likely KTVU

10 o'clock sports: KBHK did this very briefly. The 10:30 public affairs show was also KBHK.

You're probably right about the 11 and 11:30 news coming from KPIX because CBS did still have a 15 minute late newscast, and an 11:45 movie.

And those last two shows were both KPIX public affairs shows(repeated from 5 or 6 AM Sunday).

This is one year before WCTG was uplinked to satellite and became a Superstation Destination:Gobi was a pretty good movie. Surprised Atlanta didn't have an afternoon movie at this point.

WTCG/17 did at 1 PM. They'd been running a movie at the time since around 1970.

As far as I remember, WTCG/WTBS ran an afternoon movie for years in the slot after Perry Mason, and leading into the mid-afternoon cartoon block (Flintstones/Tom & Jerry/Bugs Bunny).

And from 1968 to 1972 (as WJRJ then WTCG) they'd clear NBC and ABC daytime shows that WSB and WQXI (now WXIA) passed up. They started running afternoon movies when Let's Make A Deal, which 17 ran when it was on NBC, moved to ABC and thus cleared on WQXI.

I didn't catch the movie on Channel 17. There often was one, in other markets starting about 4:30 and ending when the evening news began. Not in Atlanta at this point, apparently.

11 had an afternoon movie in the late 60s starting at 3:30. The ABC shows at 3:30 and 4:00 aired later on same day delay—One Life To Live on channel 17 at 4, and Dark Shadows on channel 11 at 5:30.

One of the crazy things that I noticed is that the 3 stations that aired The X-Files at 7pm (2, 6 and 7), all three aired the same episode!

Probably if you'd have flipped through the channels, you wouldn't realize about it!

Mr. 880 was quite the good film. Starred Burt Lancaster. The only place you might catch gems like this anymore is on TCM.

The Rambo cartoon had a reasonably long life after being cancelled after its first season.

Jeopardy and Wheel didn't run together. Surprised there wasn't a UPN affiliate at this time. 24 ran a pretty good slate of independent programming. 55 ran a bunch of junk.

In the Central time zone, it's not uncommon for J! and Wheel not airing back-to-back in certain markets; down in the road in Chicago, WLS has also aired Jeopardy! at 3:30pm, and Wheel at 6:30. Both stations had/have well-established 6pm newscasts for decades.

As far as UPN, WCGV lost the affiliation at the start of 1998 because of contractual issues between owner Sinclair and the network; they re-joined UPN that August.

Channel 55 was an inTV station, the predecessor to Pax TV/Ion.

In Central Time markets, Jeopardy! almost always gets moved to mid-afternoon (with Wheel always being at 6:30)

2 NBC News Overnight (maybe the program was repeated back-to-back during the night)

Surprised at the lack of an independent station. These listings came during the ill fated run of 'Joanie Loves Chachi'.

Gainesville was a short market until fairly recently. The big surprise was the lack of listings for WCPX (now WKMG) from Orlando when the other two VHF's from Orlando were listed. Did they have a weaker signal?

Gainesville is still a small market. DMA rank 159.

Also notably missing from Orlando/Daytona Beach are WMFE-24 (PBS) and WOFL-35 (Independent), and Jacksonville had already had two independent stations on the air at the time, channels 30 and 47 (now co-owned), but both were still fairly new at the time; 47, at the time, was transitioning into a general independent from being mostly religious. Maybe like Orlando's Channel 6, those other stations' signals may not have reached Gainesville at the time.

Or perhaps WJXT was their default CBS affiliate, much like Dothan's WTVY was to Panama City up to 2012. Then again, I could be wrong (again) as the listings clearly show two NBC and three ABC outlets.

Shouldn't the program titles with money amounts have commas and not decimals? ($25,000 Pyramid, $100,000 Pyramid, Movie "The $1,000,000 Misunderstanding")

Sorry about that.

Interesting point. I just thought that the poster might have lived in one of the many parts of the world where the two punctuations are inverted.

A thousand dollars is $1.000,00 in many parts of the world. When you set up Windows or Excel or the like, it asks for your preferred date and number format.

Yes. I'm from Buenos Aires, Argentina and punctuations are inverted here, as you just explained.

Stations like WMAR and WSMV in Nashville will always be known for pre-empting the Tonight Show which was rare. The same with specific CBS stations that pre-empted some of the soaps in the 80s and 90s.

Should be Mary Tyler MOORE!!

Sorry. Maybe when I typed, I was thinking about Romper Room! I noticed my mistake hours after posting.

Man, Ryan, take it easy. It's no easy task to transcribe these. South_Ferretti does this for our enjoyment and isn't being paid.

That PRE channel must've been one of the last that sent a scrambled signal over the air as a subscription service.

Soon after this schedule, WQTV would run into financial problems and lose all their cash programming, in favor of network pre-emptions, public domain movies, and barter programs.

Too bad, they had a pretty good schedule at this point.

Could 'Sale of the Century' been a syndicated rerun? If not, why was it airing on Fox, I thought that was an NBC Daytime show? Great movies from the independent stations this date. The networks had pretty good fare themselves. 'Gimme a Break', 'Highway to Heaven' and 'Magnum' among them.

13 in seattle aired the daytime programs the networks didn't as Blockbusters, Wordplay, Pyramid and CBS Card Sharks also aired on that station

It is interesting to see WTMV's lineup of rejected network programming of Mike & Maty, Bold and the Beautiful, Loving, and Jane Whitney (an NBC daytime show at this time). This would change in December 1994 with the affiliation swap with WTSP finally airing Bold and the Beautiful in its network time slot and WFTS adding Mike & Maty and Loving.

Channel 62 carried INN News pretty late. Filling out a syndication contract until it expired, perhaps?

54 had a pretty good schedule.

Even here, in 1986, the networks weren't programming Friday nights strongly. Both 'A-Team' and 'Scarecrow' were past their primes at this point.

Yeah, both series had just started what would be their final seasons at this point. Up until 1985, CBS had a pretty solid and stable Friday night lineup, with Dukes of Hazzard, Dallas, and Falcon Crest; in the '85-86 TV season, the Eye tried out different series in the Friday 8pm slot, with little to no success--Charlie & Company (a sitcom starring Flip Wilson and Gladys Knight, and featuring a young Jaleel White and Kristoff St. John as their sons), a revival of The Twilight Zone, and a couple of failed midseason replacement series. It was until the following year (1987) that CBS stabilized their Friday night lineup once again (at least for a couple of years), with the addition of Beauty and the Beast (Linda Hamilton/Ron Pearlman) in the 8pm slot.

I thought that Joan's old show ended in December of '93; what's this all about?

Yeah, "Joan Rivers Show" ended in 1993, but "Can We Shop" started in January 1994. Probably her old show was being repeated.

WOR was a godsend to first run syndicated shows of that age. To air them in prime time in the top market had to help keep them going.

How'd you source the Daily News?

Pretty lousy day of programming with the exception of the D-Day movies. Surprised 'This Week in Baseball' isn't listed. I believe the show was still airing before it was cancelled the first time in 1997 and resurrected as the Fox pregame show in 1998.

While they didn't air this night, this was the summer that so called 'reality' programming took off with the first seasons of 'Survivor' and 'Big Brother'. I note it because broadcast television changed markedly after this.

A lot of good choices this night. 'Matlock' still in prime time, 'Coach' and 'Roseanne' early in their runs, MLB Playoffs and some good movies on the independent stations. All over the air. Nowadays, you could pay over $100 for less good programming in primetime!

Pretty lackluster prime time on TV at this point. Was 'Hercules' a WB show at this point or did the Channel 62 affiliate have permission to air a syndicated show in prime time?

It was a syndicated show. Probably the station had permission to air it during primetime.

The 9pm time slot isn't considered prime time for non-Big Three stations in the Central Time Zone

Prime time is 8-11 in Eastern so it would be 7-10 in Central, would it not?

for ABC, CBS & NBC yes

The others (CW, FOX, My) is 7-9...although in markets stations are dumping My network "programming" to off hours. Minneapolis use to show it at 7-9, then went to 8-10 last season, then 9-11 early this calendar year and this season 10-midnight.

WB primetime was 7-9 pm Central, thus KSMO didn't need the network's permission to air Hercules at 9:00 pm.

Also making appearances are Fred MacMurray and Bill Bixby. Ron Howard and Suzanne Somers are the hosts.

2v 8 12 26 27 32 Great Performances

Tosca: Puccini's enduring melodrama. It's set in 1800 Rome, where prima donna Floria Tosca (soprano Raina Kabaivanska) and her love, the painter Mario Cavaradossi (tenor Placido Domingo), become implicated in the escape of a political prisoner. Leading the search for him is the much-feared chief of police Baron Scarpia (baritone Sherrill Milnes), who arrests Mario-and threatens his execution to win the love of Tosca. Puccini's 1900 'verismo' (realistic) work, which is sung in Italian, offers a score of turbulent passions and memorable themes, highlighted by the sonorous tenor aria 'Recondita armonia' and Tosca's moving prayer, 'Vissi d'arte.' This 1976 production was filmed in the actual Roman locales of the opera's libretto. Bruno Bartoletti conducts the New Philharmonia Orchestra of London, Martin Bookspan is the narrator.

5s 7 9 13h Eight is Enough

Tom & Abby are both losing sleep. Tom (Dick Van Patten) has to face an IRS audit, while Abby (Betty Buckley) fears the interruption of her doctoral studies-by pregnancy. Dr. Kraus: Anita Dangler. Mary: Lani O'Grady. Nicholas: Adam Rich.

6 11 14 Movie

'Buffalo Bill and the Indians or Sitting Bull's History Lesson.' (1976) Director Robert Altman debunks the heroic legend of William F. 'Buffalo Bill' Cody (1846-1917). Following his days as a buffalo hunter and Army scout, Cody made a name for himself as a showman, using his Wild West exhibition to perpetuate his frontier fame-and some believe, to mythicize his exploits. As depicted in the film, Cody (played by Paul Newman) is an egocentric figure given to drink, womanizing and exulting his self-proclaimed role as 'America's National Entertainer.' His show's latest addition is the proud Sioux chief Sitting Bull, who, through a translator, can negotiate like a star. Cody is rankled by the Chief's demands, one in particular: that the planned reenactment of Custer's Last Stand be replaced by a re-created Army slaughter of a Sioux tribe. 'He just wants to show the truth,' says troupe star Annie Oakley. 'I have a better sense of history,' answers Cody. Geraldine Chaplin, Joel Grey.

5s 7 9 13h Charlie's Angels

Dean Martin looks to the Angels for help in the first case of their 3rd season. He plays a Las Vegas casino owner someone's trying to ruin. Filmed on location. Sabrina: Kate Jackson. Vic Morrow, Scatman Crothers. 2 hour broadcast, 'Vega$' premieres after Charlie's Angels next week.

10 Lawrence Welk

First of two parts. Alex Cord, Richard Basehart. [Concludes tomorrow at this time.]

Bonus, not included initially in the TV guide, noted as a footnote: Football: PSV vs. Real Madrid (1988-89 European Cup quarter-finals).

A more than decent schedule. I wonder if the Lolel i Bolek cartoons were shown dubbed or with lektor, like they did in TVR1.

In the 1970s, before the austerity policies of Ceaușescu, the TV guide was longer than in 1989 (around 10 hours of emissions, plus 5 or 6 hours of broadcasts on the Second Channel, closed in 1985). In those years, you seen Romanian-based cartoons, such as: "Mihaela" (a pretty little girl), "Bălănel și Miaunel" (a story based on two characters: Bălănel, a dog and Miaunel, a cat), "Buldogul Manole", "Gopo" (an humanoid), all of these broadcasted in a feed called "1001 de Seri" (1001 Evenings) .

Only after Romanian Revolution started to appear foreign cartoons: "Ninja Turtles", "Sandy Bell", "Looney Tunes" and other cartoons who appeared initially on NBC Super Channel.

I love Mihaela and Manole! Their shorts had titles in English, Spanish and French and no dialogue, so anyone can see.

Who could've known how rough the next few years would be there.

Kinda surprised that FOX had even allowed this. Reason I say that is that some years back I can recall reading in Broadcasting & Cable about some local station who had wanted to air The Simpsons & The Family Guy in the morning right after Regis & Kelly only to get a "...oh no you don't" from FOX". I don't remember exactly why FOX was so against the idea of it though.

Even though there is no shortage of 24/7 networks who do the round-the-clock cartoon thing, for some reason when it comes to showing such things in offbeat hours like overnights or mid-mornings on local TV..it tends to be looked down by many ( Family Guy and the like is an exception ). I can recall when Baltimore's WBFF channel 45 back in the late 70's for a very brief time aired The Flintstones at 11pm but viewers complained, saying that the idea was "dumb" so after just one week the station went to airing reruns of I Love Lucy in that slot.

Oh man the memories, I need to dig up some of my local TV Guides as well, I would have been 8 in 1990 and I remember the Saturday morning cartoon blocks quite well, as well as some of the local programming, such as Southern Sportsman and Sparks (the former has full episodes on Youtube, but I cannot find anything from the latter, and would love to dig up a VHS copy of it--I know Sparks was WRAL produced).

As for that local music show "Sunday Night" I believe it gave way to the syndicated music video show "Radio Vision" as that aired on Saturday nights from 1993-1995 if memory serves me correctly.

WKFT did air some Durham Bulls games back when they were a Single A team affiliate of the Atlanta Braves (up through 1996 by my memory) and a few syndicated shows, though the majority of their programming was what you would see on the .2, .3, .4 etc sub-channels of today, old movies, TV shows, etc.

I remember that ALCS Game 4. The A's completely owned the Sox that series. Clemens pitched a decent Game 1, but as soon as he left in the 7th, the A's dominated. The A's were heavy favorites to win the Series, but were beaten, pretty soundly by the Reds. Striking how much decent programming was available OTA without needing subchannels. The expansion of cable seems to have just led to more and more infomercial filler where decent programming once aired.

NOTE: WJAR is the only O&O station in the area that aired the network's national early morning news program (NBC News at Sunrise), and WBZ, despite being an CBS O&O itself, dropped CBS Morning News for an additional half hour of local news. WBZ started airing CBS Morning News in 1999/2000, when CBS started to feed the show to its affiliates at 4:30am ET. Did the networks force the O&O stations to clear the entire schedule without preemptions?

There wasn't an independent station in the market yet: WSYT (68) was launched in 1986.

The paper also included stations from neighboring markets (WCAX, WCFE, WEZF, WKTV, WNPE, WPTZ, WUTR, WWNY) and some Canadian stations too! (CBMT, CBOT, CFCF, CJOH, CKWS)

If not for the Canadian reception and the ability to receive near market stations, TV viewing at this time in Syracuse would've been really limited!

Looking at the other Upstate New York schedules recently posted, outside of Buffalo, most of the Upstate had pretty limited access to TV back then, and even going to the early 90s. A lot of these areas also had cable TV at this point, more than likely getting access to the New York City or Boston independents, as well as some Canadian channels (particularly in places like Rochester and Plattsburgh).

Buffalo had an independent (WUTV) as early as 1970, and a second (WNYB) by 1987. Rochester got WUHF in 1980. Watertown, Binghamton and Elmira never got indies in the pre-Fox era, and Utica barely did. WUTV never took advantage of the chance to become a regional superstation. We never got it in Rochester before WUHF started, and I don't think Elmira/Corning ever did, either.

Canadian carriage was always weird. Syracuse and the rest of central NY had CBC/CKWS early on, and Rome and Watertown still get it even now, I think. We never, ever had CBC in Rochester. The suburban Peoples Cable system had CBLFT in French as early as 1982, picked up over the air. We also had CTV/CJOH (received off-air from CJOH-6 Deseronto) for a few years in the mid-80s. The American Cable system in the city didn't even have those, and by the time the systems merged as Greater Rochester Cable in - was it 1985? - all of that was gone. So was our very brief carriage of WSBK and WNEW-TV. WPIX and WWOR lingered a little longer.

I find it interesting that the Syracuse paper included the Watertown, Kingston, Utica, and Burlington stations, but not much closer Rochester or Binghamton

I think there were still multiple editions of the paper then on weekdays. I know there were multiple versions of the Sunday TV book. (The Sunday paper was then the "Herald-American," a Sunday edition of the afternoon Herald-Journal, which was co-owned with the Post-Standard but had a separate newsroom staff.)

There was a Cayuga County edition that did list the Rochester channels. There may also have been a Cortland County edition that might have listed Binghamton - but the Binghamton stations never had much carriage or viewership north of the Broome/Cortland line.

I went to SU in the mid-'70s. From my 7th-floor dorm room, with rabbit ears, I could get all the Syracuse stations, Channels 2 and 20 (both snowy) from Utica, and Channel 11 (decent quality, not as snowy as Utica) from Kingston. Rochester? Nothing except a barely visible Channel 13 -- nothing from 8 or 10. Nothing from Binghamton either. So the listings in the paper(s) made sense to me.

Blame some long-ago bad decisions by Rochester TV owners. There was talk in the early 1960s about abandoning Pinnacle Hill and going out to Baker Hill on the Monroe/Ontario county line, above what's now Eastview Mall, where they would have built a thousand-foot community tower. The flight paths into Rochester airport, just a few miles to the west, limit the towers on Pinnacle to about 250 feet, which has severely limited coverage out to the east.

If they'd followed through on that plan at Baker Hill, the Rochester stations would have had much better Finger Lakes coverage (and would eventually have had Yates and maybe Seneca counties as part of the Rochester TV market instead of Syracuse).

You can hear the difference on FM now in Syracuse: the Pinnacle Hill FMs (91.5, 96.5, 97.9) aren't usable in town, even before the translators covered them up. But the FMs that later ended up on Baker Hill (class B 100.5 and 95.1, class A 99.7 and 90.5) are usually listenable, and would certainly have been usable in a 7th floor dorm room up on the hill at SU if they'd existed there in the 70s. And that's with a shorter tower than what the TV stations might have built up there.

2 Suddenly an Eagle

Special: Retracing the events that led to 'the shot heard round the world.' Lee J. Cobb and British actor Kenneth Griffith alternate as on-screen narrators in this documentary, which places them in historical settings and occasionally on opposite sides of the Atlantic to tell how and why the American colonies rebelled against England. It's a familiar story made vivid, in part, by the locales themselves: Windsor Castle colonial Williamsburg, Va.; Carpenter's Hall in Philadelphia (site of the First Continental Congress), and Lexington and Concord, Mass., where the War of Independence began. But it's the lesser-known details in the story that set this hour apart. For example...George Washington's cautious advice that a call to arms 'should be the last resort'; William Pitt's sympathy for the colonists' cause; and John Adams' defense of British troops on trial for the Boston Massacre.

4 Tony Orlando & Dawn

Danny Thomas and Georgia Engel are the guests. Comedy segments include the invention of the doorbell by dumbbell Ludwig Who-iz-it (Tony), and Lou Effy and Moreen's experiences with shady television salesman Wild Bill (played by Ted Zeigler). Georgia sings "I'm the First Girl in the Second Row."

Set during the Napoleonic era, the costume drama follows the plight of a young man sentenced to life imprisonment for a crime he didn't commit; his escape after 14 years from an impregnable island prison; and his emergence in aristocratic society to wreck vengeance on the men who caused his captivity. De Villefort: Louis Jourdan. Abbe Faria: Trevor Howard.

This edition must have only been sold in the immediate St. Louis area as KFVS, WSIU, KOMU, and KRCG are missing (they likely had some degree of viewership to within 50 miles of St. Louis)

Wow, hard choices to be made in this night before VCRs were really a thing. I probably would've went with Cannon and Starsky, but would've wondered what had happened on Barretta and Blue Knight. Tony Orlando would've been my choice now, but I'm sure I watched Little House on this actual night.

Well, my great-grandmother, who lived in Yakima, was one of Little House's biggest fans IMO. I'm sure if she could afford a $1000 Beta and the tapes, she would record every episode ;-). She would sit in her rocking chair and didn't move a muscle until the credits rolled.

I see KTVI pre-empted Ryan's Hope and Edge of Night. EON was picked up at 10:30am by KPLR.

Retro: Oklahoma City, Oklahoma - Week of January 16-22, 1994

I've liked viewing other users schedule posts for years, so I decided to post one of my own. Note that some titles may be incomplete if they are unfamiliar to me or I cannot find the complete title online (I welcome contributions to fill in the blanks). Newscast titles have been substituted for the placeholder title "News" where present in the actual printed listings.

As far as 'SNL' is concerned, it was a jazz-blues-flavored night, with performances by Eubie Blake, Gregory Hines, and Busey himself, jamming with Paul Butterfield, of the eponymous Butterfield Blues Band, as well as Rick Danko, formerly of The Band.

WWAY Ch. 3 Wilmington, NC (ABC)

3:30 Pro Bowlers Tour (Fair Lanes Open from Washington, DC)

I noticed that they were the only ABC station in the region to carry Pro Bowler's Tour -- was bowling ever popular in North Carolina?

"Pro Bowlers Tour" never had a big following in the South, other than in Virginia and Florida, although there were some ABC affiliates such as WTVN Chattanooga and WLOS Asheville that always carried it. In Atlanta, neither WXIA nor WSB would carry it, handing it off to either WATL or WVEU (which became WUPA), Chs. 36 and 69 respectively.

In North Carolina bowling had no chance against ACC basketball.

For many years, WLOS's lineup on Saturdays was predictable, usually a movie then "Pro Bowlers Tour" then "Wide World of Sports" for many years, until 1997. As ABC added more bowling, the schedule was pretty much the same from January to about June or July. Once in a great while, if bowling started early, they'd usually drop the movie.

I'm amazed WLOS showed "Pro Bowlers Tour" given that bowling had no chance against ACC basketball.

It's funny to see New Zoo Revue on a mainstream independent TV station. Channel 67 the HSN station in Smithtown, Long Island used to put a snowy, but watchable signal into Bristol, Connecticut and I remember in the 90s they aired New Zoo Revue. I also remember W13BF in Hartford airing New Zoo Revue on Saturdays. W13BF showed Spanish Programming from Telemundo, Italian Programming from RAI, and some Polish and Greek Programming as well. At least one of the Polish shows was locally produced. Later still when I was much older Channel 43 in Bridgeport, CT aired New Zoo Revue as their E/I programming back when they were owned by EW Scripps for their now defunct Shop-at-Home Network.

In both Philly and NYC, Wheel and Jeopardy! aired on different stations at this time!

Doylestown certainly had a great deal of station choice if indeed they could receive all of these stations! Mostly summer reruns in prime time on this date, but the Independents had some good programs.

A few things missing on the New York stations...

On WPIX, something aired in the 5:00 am hour. Not sure what it was at 5, but I'm certain they were airing another repeat of Independent Network News at 5:30--the national version with a late update. And at 4:00 pm there was no way they were double-running Voltron...either more Tom & Jerry, Scooby-Doo or another sitcom (maybe Good Times) aired at 4:30.

And on WABC-TV, that station signed-on at 5:30 with Morning Stretch.

It was definitely summer season on the independents. WNEW-TV rested Three's Company and All in the Family and WPIX did the same with Alice and maybe a couple more shows, WOR-TV was running a hour of Sally Field's short-lived sitcoms, and Private Benjamin was on in both NYC and Philly. WTAF-TV was running The Ropers in place of its parent show. And the PBS stations gave the classroom instructional stuff the summer off.

And NJN...as a kid I lived for the hour of Uncle Floyd and Dark Shadows. But here in NYC the North Jersey stations (50 and 58) ran Uncle Floyd at 6:30 and DS at 7:00. To this day, still not sure why.

There was a period where the shows overlapped for a week IIRC. Just a week, and probably some fluke that would never happen now, but I recall it being mentioned in the Philly Inquirer.

Sort of a sleepy, summer TV week, but interesting to read. In particular, the transition of KOKH from Independent to Fox was notable. 'Greatest Sports Legends' was in the final stretch of its long syndicated run. Surprised that the OKC Catholic Diocese didn't have Mass on local TV.

A lot of CBS pre-emptions Sunday on KWTW with no CBS News Sunday Morning, Face the Nation, CBS Sunday Night News, or CBS News Nightwatch.

Surprised 'Smackdown' was on Thursday. I thought that was a Friday thing when UPN carried it. Network TV was in a weird place at this time. ABC basically went all in on Millionaire which only worked for a short while, CBS was big on Survivor and NBC was seeing 'Must See TV' weaken. Note that Headline News was still syndicating at this point.

It says KVII aired All My Children at 1:30am. Was it always this way?

no, KVII moved the show to noon when Jeopardy! moved to KFDA in the fall of 2001

yeah i thought it did too when i was looking at it

Retro: Oklahoma City - Week of May 26th, 1996

This schedule post chronicles the week during which The Nine O'Clock News – the newscast that began KOKH's current news department – launched. The launch of the newscast – which was later retitled the Fox 25 Primetime News at Nine in 2000, and was originally anchored by Jack Bowen (who left in 2000), Kirsten McIntyre (who left in 2002), Tim Ross (who served as chief meteorologist until 1999) and Mike Steely (who served as sports director until 1999) – was KOKH's second venture into local news programming, following the "Newstouch 25" hourly update format that existed from around the time of its conversion from an educational independent to a commercial indie in 1979 until it became a Fox affiliate in 1991.

(Side note: The dramas shown as airing during the 10:00pm hour each weeknight during the period had previously aired in the 9:00 hour, and "The Hitchhiker" and "Extra" had respectively aired at 10:00 and 10:30pm prior to the newscast's launch.)

Surprised that 'USA Tonight' which I think was the incarnation of INN News then, was airing so late. Also remarkable were the many syndicated offerings that independents could choose from.

Notice Pastor Gas (Robert Tilton) airing on both WATL and WVEU

I like how WSB continued carrying Ryan's Hope at 12:30pm despite ABC's decision to put Loving in that slot. WVEU 69 had carried Loving in the mid-80s but looks like they dropped it by this time. Upon the cancellation of Ryan's Hope in January 1989, WSB did replace it with Loving.

Independent Stations were wonderful. Surprised the Fox affiliate, as brief as that affiliation may have been, wasn't carrying Joan Rivers. It ran until October of '88. If that 'Late Show' listing was it, it was running on an hour delay. Odd for a show that represented the flagship network offering at that point.

It is interesting to see the Tonight Show bumped up to 11:05pm on KARE for Cheers at 10:35pm. I don't recall many stations delaying the Tonight Show.

NBC on a 'Must See TV' hangover, with Seinfeld having ended the season before, and the other networks, having avoided serious counter-programming against that block for years with pretty weak lineups. ABC was an absolute basket case at this point and CBS was pushing back into the lead, but by going for aggregate viewers, with poor demo performance. This weak programming is what really gave rise to reality programming in prime time shortly thereafter.

It's so strange to see that a TV channel from abroad picked up the Argentinian soap "Sheik". Canal 13, the original broadcaster of the soap, tried to imitate the huge success of "Nano" (1994), but it was a failure.

Amazing that TVR1 still produced new episodes of La Volan in the late 90s. There's an episode of 1988 on Euroscreen which shows the streets of Bucharest and its people, albeit the programme was still produced in black and white in that time.

Happy Days and Laverne & Shirley still ruled this night at this point, but that was rapidly coming to an end.

It is interesting that WTLV 12 didn't show The Edge of Night at 4:00pm but they had the syndicated show Soap World in the timeslot lol.

2:00am: Barney Miller (syndie reruns after moved from channel 13 earlier)

2:30am: Night Gallery

3:00am: McCloud (with the late Dennis Weaver!)

It's a shame that WAXA 40 went off the air a month earlier after financial issues following the loss of Frank Outlaw. IMHO, If WAXA 40 was still on the air on this date, it would carry ABC shows like Home and daytime repeats of Perfect Strangers which was preempted by WLOS 13 for local news. And other syndie programs that didn't shown in GSP at the time.

Greenville/Spartanburg, SC market had more stations (5 commercial. WNEG 32, UNC-TV WUNF 33 wasn't mentioned, and 3 PBS from SCETV) than Charleston, SC market (4 commercial, no indies, and one PBS/SCETV).

And a month later NewsCenter4 (WYFF 4) became simply News4, and kept the gold Arrow 4 logo for two more years.

10:30am: Wheel of Fortune (daytime with Bob Gowen)

That's Bob Goen, not Bob Gowen.

i remember seeing the gold Arrow 4 logo logo sometimes before NFL games or NBA games or "On Scene: Emergency Response"

i always wondered what time did american gladiators come on WLOS? i know it was always saturdays at midnight?

i wonder what shows waxa would have picked up like "Ryan's Hope" "The Edge of Night" and any other shows that WLOS preempted

For those remember on that day when Hurricane Hugo hit Charleston, South Carolina. Here's the listings from the Greenville, SC area via Herald Journal on September 21, 1989. From 9am to wee hours. Non-Public TV stations only.

9:00am: Live! with Regis and Katie Lee (before moving to rival channel 4 a decade later and KLG left and now on NBC's Today Show 4th hour with Hoda Kotb which isn't cleared on WYFF 4 in the mornings, but shown on repeats only at 2:05am, and Regis retired, now Live! with Kelly)

That September, NY Giants Hall of Famer Michael Strahan became Kelly Ripa's new co-host, and the show is now known as Live! with Kelly and Michael.

2:00am: Barney Miller (syndie reruns after moved from channel 13 earlier)

That was where I got my first exposure to that classic ABC police comedy. I now have the full-series DVD release of it, and have very much been enjoying it. I remember when the reruns had CPT's Sunburst/Abstract Torch logo after the Four D Productions logo (that combo is saved on Shout!'s full-series release on the 1982 finale, albeit the Sunburst/AT is silent).

i remember ABC having the Weekend Report on saturday late nights at least following "American Gladiators" on my abc station WLOS

I've always wondered what shows that WAXA/40 would have picked up...

Card Sharks

The Doctors

The Edge of Night

Santa Barbara(until 1986, when WYFF/4 started clearing SB.

With movies airing between 1 and 4pm.

Retro: Oklahoma City - Week of September 30, 1979

This schedule post chronicles the week during which KOKH-TV converted from an educational independent into a commercial independent station. The station – which was founded by Oklahoma City Public Schools on February 2, 1959, following Republic Television and Radio Company's donation of the construction permit belonging to the previous occupant of UHF channel 25, KTVQ (which operated from November 1, 1953 until it was forced off the air by court order during bankruptcy proceedings on December 15, 1955) – was sold by the school district on December 14, 1978 to New York City-based John Blair & Co. for $3.5 million. KOKH's conversion made it into the first commercial independent station in Oklahoma, soon to be followed by the launch of KGMC (now KOCB, channel 34) four weeks later on October 28. (KGMC's launch week will be chronicled my the next schedule post.)

Really enjoy this threat - especially the new independent debuting.

Hey tmanokc,

Can you make a post

"Retro: Oklahoma City Week of October 28, 1979"

the week that KGMC (now KOCB) Ch. 34 signed-on?

I mentioned in the intro the week in which KGMC/KOCB signed on will be chronicled in my next post. The week KAUT debuted its free-to-air programming (the week of November 2, 1980) will come after that post. (KAUT technically debuted on October 15, 1980; however, for its first three weeks of operation, it only offered programming from VEU - an OTA subscription service in the vein of ONTV and SelecTV - which was not listed in The Oklahoman until it began incorporating cable listings in its Sunday TV listings magazine insert in April 1982. TV Guide appears to not have listed KAUT's VEU programming in its Oklahoma State edition at any point between October 1980 and September 1982, the period in which KAUT offered VEU programming at night and on weekends.)

I don't know if you have any listing on the Tulsa TV market, but have you ever heard of KOKI's (I believe Fox 22 or 23) Friday night horror movie show called Lucretia's Friday Night Frights. I thought she was very attractive. There is a rare clip on one of those horror host videos that ran on NBC on Bloopers & Practical Jokers in the 80's. The clip was in very good condition. I posted a question like this months ago on the States section of Oklahoma & got no response.

Nope, it could be worse though. In Denmark and Norway there were in 1984 only a few stations. With luck you had cable and acces to some foreign stations. But 6 or 7 stations was already a lot.

WWF called their Canadian programming "Maple Leaf Wrestling" but that was shown in Toronto (actually CHCH Hamilton)

Unknown what Titan Wrestling was from.

The WWF's corporate name in 1984 was Titan Sports Inc. It had a wrestling talk show on USA Network called Tuesday Night Titans, but never used "Titan" in any of the titles of its other shows -- Championship, All-Star, Wrestling Challenge, Superstars of Wrestling, All-American Wrestling, Monday Night Wrestling, etc. Maybe one of those weekly shows was packaged differently for the central and western Canadian markets.

I think KMOX's 11 AM telecast of One Day At A Time was same day as was the pattern of other CBS O&Os. They'd air it at 12 Eastern/11 Central then send it to the affiliates that chose to air it at 4 ET/3 CT. (WCBS in New York previously aired the 4 PM shows at 1 PM, same day.)

Ok, I knew it was the practice of CBS O&Os back then, but wasn't sure if it was the same day feed.

I can't be sure, but I think at this point, the CBS O&Os (with the exception of WCBS) were airing the 4/3PM show on a one-day delay during the midday 30-minute access slot (12/11C). It's been said that WCBS did a same-day showing because the station had access to the tape, as the station's master control was shared with the network. It's been my understanding for some time now that "Sunrise Semester" was fed down the network to stations during the midday access slot. The CBS affiliates that carried the show would tape it and air it early in the morning. You may have noticed that some affiliates had different start times for "Semester" other than the network-recommended 6:30 AM. Some stations would run it at 6AM, or maybe 6:20 or 5:55, etc. It was pretty obvious affiliates had their own copy of the show in order to necessitate these start times.

I believe CBS did offer a same-day feed of the 4/3PM show in the midday access slot starting in 1982, after "Sunrise Semester" was canceled to make room for "The CBS Early Morning News."

During the period from February 4, 1980-June 5, 1981, when CBS had moved the affiliate access slot to 12/11C, many stations kept their local news at 12 in the Central time zone, airing Young and the Restless on a one day delay from 11-12. I have read posts that CBS offered a feed of the Young and the Restless in the overnight hours for stations to record so that the show wouldn't be a day behind. In these listings, KMOV is airing Y&R from 12-1pm which was the network time for it during this period. It wasn't until June 8, 1981, CBS began offering the two feeds of the show at 12/11C or 12:30/11:30C. It's interesting that none of the CBS O&Os aired local news in the access time until Press Your Luck was cancelled in 1986 and the 4/3C slot was given back to CBS stations.

The split feed of Y&R did not occur until some time in 1982. It happened the Monday after Jill Foster and John Abbott got married. My local affiliate, which had been running Y&R on a one-day delay at 11AM, aired the Friday episode w/the wedding at 10AM on that Monday, followed by the Monday episode on the new 11AM feed.

Wow, I'm impressed with your memory on that!!! I knew June 8, 1981 is when CBS shifted the schedule bringing Y&R up to 12:30/11:30C, As the World Turns at 1:30/12:30C, Search for Tomorrow (moving from 12:30/11:30C) to 2:30/1:30C, and Guiding Light remaining at 3/2C. I always assumed the split feed happened on that day, but you're saying they still had to tape delay the show until 1982. The split feed was a smart idea.

NBC could have done that with Card Sharks or The Doctors-noon and 12:30. That way WYFF/4 could have done local news followed by Card Sharks.

Surprised KPLR didn't air a movie in prime time. 9:30 news must've been nice to have. That INN news product was fairly new at this time, but it endured for almost a decade after this. I'm sure I was watching 'Little House' this night.

A split feed could have worked for The Doctors too on NBC- the noon hour would often see affiliates of the three major networks opt not to air their offerings for at least part of, if not all of, the timeslot and usually air a local newscast or some other programming, and The Doctors disappeared from some markets when it made the move. If a split feed had been used, then maybe, The Doctors doesn't disappear from some markets when it made the move.

Are you referring to the brief time in 1982 when NBC bumped up The Doctors to Noon ET when Search for Tomorrow moved to NBC at 12:30?

Retro: Oklahoma City - Week of October 28, 1979

This schedule post chronicles the week during which KGMC (channel 34, now KOCB) signed on as the second UHF station – chronologically, the fifth such station, counting defunct outlets KTVQ (channel 25, allocation later occupied by eventual KOCB sister station KOKH-TV) and KLPR-TV (channel 19, allocation later occupied by KUOT-CD) – in the Oklahoma City market. KGMC signed on as a commercial independent station on October 28, 1979, under a joint venture between Rockford, Illinois-based General Media Corporation and Oklahoma City Broadcasting, Inc. (founded by Ted F. Baze, who previously served as station manager at WPHL-TV in Philadelphia); Baze's group would eventually acquire full ownership in January 1990 following bankruptcy proceedings, after acquiring a stake owned by infamous stock speculator Ivan Boesky (whose Beverly Hills Hotel Corp. bought majority interest in KGMC in 1983). Baze sold the station to Superior Broadcasting (co-founded by eventual Nexstar Media Group founder/CEO Perry Sook, who also served as KOCB's general manager under its ownership) in 1993, which sold it in turn to Sinclair Broadcast Group in 1996.

The launch week of KAUT – which began operation as Oklahoma City's third independent station in October 1980, will be chronicled by the next schedule post. However, since KAUT only carried programming from the VEU subscription service for its first two weeks on the air, that post will chronicle the week KAUT commenced its free-to-air news and entertainment schedule, November 2-8, 1980.

(Television News did not list VEU programming until cable listings were added to the supplement in April 1982, six months before KAUT ceased carrying the service and adopted a full-time free-to-air schedule; I cannot verify whether the [pre-1981] Oklahoma and [from 1981 onward] Oklahoma City editions of TV Guide ever listed VEU within the KAUT listings or as a separate service like Television News did for the first couple months it included that service's listings. If anyone can verify whether TV Guide included listings for VEU, reply here.)

Stich, do you have any TV listings from this day in Houston, Texas?

Wow, that's strange, I could have sworn that KVII/7 carried All My Children when I was up there (1989-1993)....maybe they either didn't want to bother with a 1-day tape delay or thought they'd be banging their heads against the wall trying to carry a soap opposite Young & the Restless, but Dr. Quinn ?!?! Really??

I had to do a double take of the listings, even checking weekend overnights-but no "All My Children" in site on KVII. Of the other ABC affiliates listed in the edition, WFAA and KAMC carried it at 11am, while KMID carried it at 12pm.

where'd you find these listings?

4 WTAE ABC Pittsburgh

10:30 Jack Bogut

Morning drive DJ for KDKA radio from the late 60's into the early 80's.

He was lured away by rival WTAE radio (at what the time was viewed as a major coup) to do morning drive there.

Part of the deal was that he insisted on being able to do television as well.

WTAE, having both TV and radio stations at the time, was willing to oblige.

He took over their morning TV talk show, and also produced a pilot for a sitcom which I think was called Big Sky Café (he's a Montana native). I remember going to pick-up a date and watching some of it with her family while I was waiting for her. Horrifyingly awful was a pretty apt description.

Jack Bogut is a very polite, mild-mannered guy, which really does not translate well to television.

We had WRAL 5 on Directv satellite that was part of the East coast network affiliate package at that time. It was so annoying to get Bold and the Beautiful a day behind at 1:00pm (Noon central our time). At one time they had Golden Girls after it. Sometime in the late 90s, they finally moved it to it's network time at 1:30 so it wasn't a day behind.

I'm guessing Channels 2 & 6 aired WWF Wrestling.

At this point it was more likely a regional outfit.

Utica had WWWF TV in the mid-'70s, so Albany most likely had it, too. There was a regional promotion -- the NWF -- based in Buffalo, but it had no TV east of Rochester.

Retro: Oklahoma City - Week of November 2, 1980

This schedule post chronicles the week during which KAUT debuted its free-to-air programming schedule, offering a rolling afternoon news block (branded as TV-43 Newswatch) and a limited two-hour schedule of syndicated shows on weekdays. (This was also the week Ronald Reagan was elected as the 40th President of the United States.) KAUT had actually begun operation as Oklahoma City's third commercial UHF station – chronologically, the sixth such station, counting defunct outlets KTVQ (channel 25, allocation later occupied by eventual KOCB sister station KOKH-TV) and KLPR-TV (channel 19, allocation later occupied by KUOT-CD) – on October 15, 1980, originally operating for its first three weeks exclusively as a charter affiliate of Video Entertainment Unlimited (VEU), an over-the-air subscription television service – in the vein of services such as ONTV, SelecTV and Spectrum – offering uncut movies (both mainstream theatricals and pornographic films), specials and sports, which required a special decoder box in order to un-encrypt the signal.

Note: The Oklahoman did not include the VEU schedule until April 1982 (six months before VEU ceased being offered by KAUT, at which point, its time periods were replaced with syndicated entertainment shows), when Television News incorporated listings for cable channels into the supplement. (Oddly, the supplement listed VEU in a separate grid from KAUT's FTA schedule for three months after the change, before folding the two into the same grid space as additional cable channels were added to the magazine.) As such, time periods during which VEU programming aired are listed under the generic nameplate "VEU programming". (I cannot verify whether the [pre-1981] Oklahoma State and [from 1981 onward] Oklahoma City editions of TV Guide ever listed VEU within the KAUT listings or as a separate service as how Television News did as mentioned above. If anyone can verify whether TV Guide included listings for VEU, send a reply confirming it.) can you also post this...

"Retro: Oklahoma City - Week of October 17, 1982"

The week that KAUT stopped carrying VEU programming and became a full independent station?

i'm not sure if anyone takes schedule requests but i do have one in mind, if not i understand

Atlanta's VEU was WVEU/channel 69 which signed on in 1981 (today it's CW outlet WUPA). If memory serves, TV Guide didn't run any listings for VEU. I could be wrong—I'll research it further. WATL/channel 36 also ran subscription TV but they ended it very quickly as virtually nobody went for it.

Thanks for posting all this, tmanokc! I hope to see more Oklahoma City listings from you on the future.

I only ask because, on the Vintage Toledo TV website, pages from the Detroit edition during the early 1980s did showcase listings for the-then-WXON's ONTV service (which it listed as a separate channel); that same edition didn't appear to feature listings for the-then-WIHT's In-Home Theater subscription service, though. It's possible that listings for OTA subscription services varied in markets where such services operation during the late '70s/early '80s.

I just downloaded a PDF copy of the Television Week issue from that week. I appeared to be of adequate quality to download (I base which issues I split into PDFs on whether they are aligned in a way that I can properly transcribe the listings or have pages that are not cut off to where it would impede upon reading the listings legibly or transcribing them into text).

Maher was still on OTA TV at this point with 'Politically Incorrect'. The show would be cancelled a few years later owing to a lack of advertiser support from controversy and declining ratings. There still were actually morning cartoons on OTA TV then. They've been resurrected, somewhat, on diginets, but it is different.

10:30 Kids Are People Too (Mitch Weissman of Broadway's "Beatlemania"

At this point, "Wonderama" was edited repeats of earlier episodes, as Bob McAllister left to host "Kids Are People Too" on ABC (named after his signature song). Bob would leave the ABC show not long after, in which he would be replaced with Michael Young.

How come WBOC got away with airing the Redskins-Falcons game, then switch to NBC for Raiders-Dolphins, then back to CBS for 60 Minutes?

because back then they were affiliates of all 3 networks (as it clearly stated)

What did WJLA air that Thursday and Saturday?

WRC Ch. 4 Washington, DC (NBC)

11 AM It's Academic (Eleanor Roosevelt, Carroll, and Capitol Page high schools compete.)

I wonder what happened to Carroll and Capitol Page high schools, as I think they don't seem to exist anymore. (I'm the honorary historian of this show, and I'm interested in things like this.)

EDIT: Archbishop Carroll does still exist (they are in northeast Washington), but I don't think they have had an It's Academic team in years (probably the same for the Capitol Page school).

Journey Back to Oz (4 PM, ch. 13 and 5:30, ch. 5) was a theatrical feature Filmation made in 1964 but wasn't released until 1974. It tanked horribly; ABC aired it in December 1976 with Bill Cosby and two children in live wraparounds.

This was the last season in which it aired on Thursday nights. Fox aired it on Thursdays from 1990 to 1994.

Originally it aired on Thursdays to compete against Cosby.

Fox was airing 'The Simpsons' in Thursday prime time?

Sinbad's movie career took off after this so perhaps his Fox show helped.

Sinbad's sitcom also introduced the world to one William Ray Norwood, Jr., brother of singer/actress Brandy Norwood.

You may otherwise know him as Ray J., the one who introduced the world to Kim Kardashian...

The Kardashians (Kim, Kourtney, Khloe) had several things going for them. In addition to Ray J introducing Kim, their father rose to prominence during the OJ Simpson trial and their stepfather (and Kylie and Kendall's father) was an Olympic gold medalist

Retro: Oklahoma City - Week of May 30, 1982

This post looks at the week of May 30-June 5, 1982, and includes listings for KAUT's complete programming lineup of the period (including the VEU subscription service) and TBN O&O KTBO-TV. The Oklahoman had begun to include program listings for VEU (Video Entertainment Unlimited) in Television News four weeks earlier (the May 2-8, 1982 issue), at which time, the supplement also included listings for basic cable channels (regional and national superstations like WGN, WTBS and KTVT had been available in the supplement since around 1979), premium services (including HBO, Showtime and Cinemax) and VEU.

Confusingly, though VEU was transmitted over the KAUT signal, the supplement placed the VEU schedule separately from KAUT and other local stations – alongside cable-exclusive networks and cable-originated premium channels – until the June 27 issue, when KSHB/Kansas City (a regional superstation, as was KTVT, at the time) and KTBO were moved from the out-of-area listings logs to the 24-hour grids implemented with the addition of cable listings, Satellite Program Network was dropped from the listings, and Nickelodeon and ARTS (which merged with The Entertainment Channel to become A&E two years later) were folded into a single gridspace. (Note: I have a PDF copy of said May 2 issue of Television News; however, the Oklahoman Archives' copy of the May 2 issue of the supplement and parent edition left out some pages for the Sunday listings including the grid for some cable channels as well as VEU, so I decided to source from the May 30 issue, instead.)

Hey tmanokc,

can you post this next...

"Retro: Oklahoma City - Week of October 17, 1982"

The week that KAUT stopped carrying VEU programming and became an all free-to-air Independent station?

These are the correct dates:

Sunday, May 30, 1982

Monday, May 31, 1982

Tuesday, June 1, 1982

Wednesday, June 2, 1982

Thursday, June 3, 1982

Friday, June 4, 1982

Saturday, June 5, 1982

From kTVY's Saturday schedule:

11:30am - Pop! Goes the Country

12:00pm - Nashville on the Road

12:30pm - That Nashville Music

1:00pm - Major League Baseball: Seattle Mariners at Detroit Tigers*

4:00pm - Nashville on the Road

4:30pm - That Nashville Music

Many stations had country music blocks on Saturday mornings/afternoons, but I don't recall seeing any station's listings other than KTVY's showing repeated episodes of two of those shows after NBC's Game of the Week. What was the purpose of that?

Which out-of-town stations were included in the Oklahoman at this time?

Schedule request can anyone do a schedule for Austin, TX from Tuesday, May 2, 2000?

I never cease to be amazed at how terrible Canadian television was and still is.

Even today, you still see large antenna arrays in Southern Ontario aimed at the television stations in Buffalo, NY.....

Also why the US Big Four and PBS have had near-universal cable carriage in Canada (with many areas getting two sets of Big Four affiliates)

Nice that the 'All News Channel' feed was ran instead of infomercials. Funny how history keeps repeating. The success of 'Who Wants to Be a Millionaire' led to NBC resurrecting '21' and then an attempt to restart former shows with 'The Fugitive' being an example in this schedule. And now we see attempted reboots of 'Murphy Brown', 'Magnum, PI' and others. The more things change.....

The Blue-Grey game later moved to Christmas Day where it aired for many years, before the proliferation of so many Bowl Games.

Surprised that Hawaii Five-O started on the half hour.

Ahh....the guy with the piano! I hadn't thought about him in many years.

He is still with us apparently.

I didn't know INN ever produced a midday edition....interesting!

The 'E/R' here also starred George Clooney a full decade before the 'ER' that would make him famous debuted!

Pittsburgh didn't have ATWT as neither independent picked it up! I wonder if WTRF or WTAJ were on cable in Pittsburgh itself or in inner-ring suburbs at this time Negatory on that. Closest cable system I know of that carried WTRF was in Bridgeville, about 12 miles to the SW.

My Warner QUBE system did have a channel called "TV Extras" though that would often pick-up network shows that had been pre-empted locally (in the days before SYNDEX rules prevented this). Generally their CBS feed came from WKBN in Youngstown as I recall.

WTRF was easily viewable over-the-air in Pittsburgh if you were high enough on a hill though.

I still can get it at my place. WTAJ was nearly impossible to tune in the city (Altoona being 100 miles to the east and behind a couple of mountain ridges).

Come to think of it though WKBN may have still been running movies in the afternoon so the TV Extras feed very well might have come from Wheeling.

I guess 'Uncle Bobby' was already off the air by this point. 'Friendly Giant' was just an amazing kids show. As legendary as Mr. Rogers, and I don't make that statement lightly.

Kind of odd that KYW and WCAU were included but not WPVI or any of the Lehigh Valley stations (such as WLVT and WFMZ, which (I think) both get cable carriage in Hazleton, which is in the same county as Wilkes-Barre)

I think WPVI wasn't included because of WNEP's dominance in the region.

Quite a few pre-emptions and delays on Tuesday nights in those days: Channel 4, IIRC, pre-empted Jerry Lewis' variety show at 7:30 and delayed Diahann Carroll's "Julia" to Fridays at 7 (check this for me). Channel 13 delayed "It Takes A Thief" to Sundays at 6, and I've forgotten if "Mod Squad" was also delayed to Sundays (I'm thinking it aired at 5).

However, Channel 13 did, starting in January, carry "Mod Squad" and "It Takes A Thief" in pattern, moving its movie to Monday night, moving "Peyton Place" from 8:30 to 9:30, and delaying "The Outcasts" to a Thursday slot opened up by ABC. Also, on Dec. 30, 1968, it began airing "Dream House" at 1 PM, following "Funny You Should Ask," which moved to 12:30 when "Let's Make A Deal" moved to ABC. Mike Douglas would move to Channel 4 in the summer of '69 to replace Merv Griffin, who was moving to CBS.

1:30pm: Let's Make a Deal (Monty Hall, final year on NBC)

2:00pm: Days of our Lives

2:30pm: The Doctors

3:00pm: Another World

That's what my late grandmom watched, every day. That stuck even when LMAD switched to ABC.

Retro: Boston/Providence/Manchester, Sunday, February 3, 2002

from Boston Globe

Listings start at 7am

The Globe listed infomercials only between noon and midnight. In some cases, I put "paid programming" when I noticed that a program ran for too long, so there could be some mistakes.

Fyi: WTVK-TV 26 is now WVLT-TV Channel 8. Now a CBS affiliate. WTVK was ABC then, WBIR was CBS then. Now WBIR is NBC, WATE was NBC, now is ABC.

I forgot to hit "don't use smileys" so the 8 would be visible instead of the smiley face for WVLT. While I'm aware that there have been two rounds of swaps in Knoxville (WATE/WTVK, NBC/ABC, in 1979; WBIR/WTVK (WVLT), CBS/NBC in 1988), I do not as a matter of practice list the station's current affiliation if it has changed since the time of the listings; I prefer to keep the network affiliation as it was then. WTVK was, in 1970, an ABC affiliate and I prefer to show it as it was then.

Just a guess but WKPT probably did news Saturday to build loyalty. They had just signed on the air and the owners did everything possible for success.

Obviously Channel 26 migrated to Channel 8 but I have read somewhere (wiki or here) WKPT's owners attempted a frequency swap with WSJK.

That is kinda like what the long defunct Martinsburg, West Virginia's WYVN FOX 60 did..not just 60 minutes of news during the week with "FOX 60 News at Ten" but even on weekends too, just to set themselves apart from Washington's WTTG and Baltimore's WBFF since neither at the time ( early 1990's ) did 60 minutes of news on weekends.

It didn't work.

No doubt because the FCC prohibited VHF/UHF channel swaps, mainly to protect UHF, and also to protect public television as much as possible. I remember when WAGA went to Fox in 1994, the new CBS affiliate in Atlanta, WGNX (WGCL)/46, tried to swap frequencies with WGTN/8, and the FCC turned it down.

Interestingly enough, re the FCC's attitude toward public television, PBS ended up on a higher channel in three markets following a frequency swap: Nashville (PBS moved from 2 to 8), New Orleans (8 to 12), and El Paso (7 to 13). In all three cases the ABC affiliate got the lower channel.

I remember when WAGA went to Fox in 1994, the new CBS affiliate in Atlanta, WGNX (WGCL)/46, tried to swap frequencies with WGTN/8, and the FCC turned it down.

I read that sometime in the 1980s in Tampa Bay, indie WTOG ch.44 wanted to swap channels with pubcaster WEDU ch.3. The FCC honored that request, but for some reason, the swap was never consummated.

The old WSUN TV-38 made the same request when their days were numbered after WLCY became the ABC affiliate.

Bumping this thread up a bit...

Monty's Rascals had been moved to the weekends that year to make room for the NBC soap Bright Promise, marking the start of kids shows being demoted to the weekends. Bill Norwood still had weekdays on WLOS, but in the early 80s he'd be moved to 6:30 to accommodate GMA and then got bumped in 1988.

Actually, what may have prompted the switch was that Monty had been airing opposite "Dark Shadows" and that show began eating away at his audience, and 4 panicked and moved him to 3:30, hoping to get the kids to watch "Another World" before that. Despite "AW" being a good lead-in(it was one of the highest rated soaps), it didn't help and 4 gave up in March of 70.

Personally, i would have moved him to Saturdays before 1970, that way 4 could air NBC's soaps.
